Queenstown Objects Being Classified In "Dry Area"

At the last U.F.A. meeting the subject of the Provincial Government having included the district south of the river in the "dry area" came up for discussion and this step was most severely condemned by every farmer present. A committee was elected to draw up a petition and have it signed and sent to the Government, asking it have the map changed.

Most any farming community they have a suitable place and can obtain trained artists from the city. First, we have a reason for the boys and girls from their home-coming an admission fee, fill the hall with the crowd and have a crowd applauding from start to finish, it is certainly worth mentioning. This was done in Milo at the entertainment given by the Young People Club last Friday evening. The fame of the Queenstown Junior U. F. A. Club has spread all over the province and when President Wood was in the city he went up and saw the gymnastic and other stunts of the boys and girls, he was so enthusiastic that when he was told about the entertainment, he decided to send down a reporter. Miss Turner, the U. F. A. official staff came down to get a write up for the U. F. A. We have been told by the various visitors that the Queenstown district beat all other farms district in Alberta along these lines. Of course, there is a reason for this. First, we have the place, a farmstead, second to none even in the northwest; next we are exceptionally fortunate to have an excellent, excellent trainer as Mr. Frank Harper and Mr. Alston. What these two have done for our district along the line of training the young cattle has been estimated and both of them deserve much credit.

The excellent program was followed by a supper and the balance of the night was devoted to dancing. The Anderson Bros. of Champion furnished the music. The entertainment was a big success as well as enjoyable.

The supper deserves a little credit. A bean supper may be alright for a member entertainment, but it was out of place for such a big public entertainment as this. In future editions of this kind I would advise the young people to put up a better feed even if it is necessary to charge more.

On Wednesday night, June 28th a splendid rain fell over the district. It was the first real soaking rain for several years. It was well worth the wait to farmers. Before that we had several good showers but as usual they fell in the middle of the night and not actually suffering these rains came just in time before the grain headed out and while we may have a bumper crop there is now good prospects for a fairly good one. Outcrops are still with us and have done some damage particularly to stubble crops, but not serious, and the grasshoppers are being fought by every farmer in the district. The two mixing stations at the land office business.

Mrs. Bertrand, who has been away on a visit to her brother at Miami, Florida, is expected home shortly.

Plums, sandberry and concho cherry trees are all well filled, while currants, gooseberries and strawberries are all yielding heavy.

GLEICHEN SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE TROPHY WINNER

An annual event which creates considerable competitive enthusiasm among the Gleichen School of Agriculture, is the Stock Judging competition, held at the Gleichen Agricultural Club, last Friday evening. This was done in Milo at the entertainment given by the Young People Club last Friday evening. The fame of the Queenstown Junior U. F. A. Last Wednesday Gleichen club was able to make to entertain friends and several couples from the city. It was a good thing that the club was able to put up by both teams, due no doubt to the fine weather, quiet and calm for a change. The result of the game was in favor of the Gleichen club was a fair indication of the play. Our last friends Mr. Benton and George Bates were with Carlsland and both showed they are still in the game. Bates pitched for Carlsland while Jack McArthur pitched for Gleichen. Both men were taking things easy and letting their work behind them. Gleichen as a team played by far the best defensive game of the season, only two errors being charged up against them.

YOUR TOWN

More towns die for want of confidence on the part of business men and the lack of public spirit than any other cause. When a man in search of a home or a business location goes into a town and finds everything brim full of hope and enthusiasm of the prospects of the place, and all earnestly at work to build up, he soon becomes imbued with the same spirit and as a result he drives down stakes and goes to work with the same intention. When, however, he goes to a town where everyone expresses doubt and apprehension for the future, mournful complaints he naturally feels that it is no place for him, and he at once shakes the dust off his feet while he pulls out with all possible speed for some other place. Consequently try and make a live, enterprising town in which you live. When you are working for or saying a good thing for your town you are accomplishing all the more for yourself.

NEW TAX RECOVERY ACT

The new tax recovery act passed at the last session is now in operation. Land owners in arrears of taxes from July 1st will still have until August 14th to pay up, but if arrears remain unpaid after that date the municipality in which the land lies files a caveat against the land, and within one year from the date of filing, if the taxes are still unpaid, the municipality may take title to the land. During the year, owners may pay arrears and the caveat may be withdrawn. After the title is taken by the municipality the owner may still redeem the land up to the time it is offered for sale by public auction. Provision is also made for giving the tax delinquents ample notice, with warning during the month of March that their lands are in arrears and liable to forfeiture and if then not redeemed within the redemption period they pass finally into the possession of the municipalities, free from all encumbrances except claims for seed grain or relief liens.

CANADIANS TOO BUSY

Canadians have been so busy with the material problems of nationhood that it is not surprising if the deeper and more abstract qualities which speak into the making of a great people have received less consideration than is their due. The average Canadian recognizes the empire builder in the railroad, the lumber man, the prairie pioneer, but he is not so quick to recognize the empire builder in the poet, the novelist, the artist, the musician. Yet without literature and art we can have no enduring nationhood. So far as Canadianism is concerned the time and money spent in building railways, in clearing the forests, in developing lands are wasted unless out of these transient stages in our development comes an idealism which shall give us permanency among the nations of the world. Such an idealism can be expressed and perpetuated only by means of a distinctive Canadian literature.—R. J. C. Stead.

WHY WOMEN TALK

Those who maintain that women are more voluble than men do not perhaps know that there is a scientific explanation for the phenomenon discovered some years ago by a French investigator. The average male, he asserted, speaking for one hour, expends sufficient to enable him, in another sphere of work, to lift a 2-pound weight 40 inches from the ground every minute. But that is only one-fifth of the energy wasted by the typical tub thumping open air speaker, who might as easily be lifting coal from the floor to his shoulder. The female voice, however, is of quite a different calibre, for its mechanism requires so little horse power to operate that a woman can, we are assured, talk four times as long and four times as easily as a man for the same expenditure of energy, which explains Professor Jespersen's discovery, as well as the widespread belief that in a discussion the woman invariably has the last word.

Did you ever think what your ad in the newspaper is doing for you? When you close your store in the evening and go home to your family and friends, not thinking about your business at all, then it is that the paper is being pored over in hundreds of homes—the homes from which your trade is drawn. And there is your ad doing its work silently, its surety, and if you have taken the pains to make it attractive its work will be all the more attractive. This repeated over and over again, and is no doubt what inspired some writer to call newspaper advertising a "silent drummer." Always remember, in an attractive ad much depends upon the time you allow the printer to work on it. If you send in your copy at the last hour he must rush the work and mistakes and poor display cannot be avoided.

A newspaper is in no sense a child of charity. It is to no enterprise in contributing to the upbuilding of a community. Its patrons reap far more benefits from its pages than its publishers, and in calling for the support of the community in which it is published, it asks for no more than in all fairness belongs to it, though generally it receives less. Patronize and help your paper as you would any enterprise because it helps you and not as an act of charity.

THE GRAND CIRCLE MOTOR TOUR

A Wonderful Trip for Motorists That Take In All the Glories of the Pacific Coast From Banff South to Los Angeles.

A SLENDER line ribbon of trail, 5,000 miles long, leading through the ten finest scenic jewels of the western continent—this is what western motor maps will show by the end of the coming summer. It is called "Grand Circle Tour" by the motorists of the world. One has linked in the chain, only a few miles of the route remain to be completed. Then the road will be open to the motorist of the continent. This unfinished section, from the Vermilion Cliffs near Flag, Arizona, in the Canadian Pacific Road, down to the California coast, will, Canadian Government engineers, be ready for traffic by September next. All that remains to be done is the grading and widening of the unfinished portion of the road. The great bend, down of a foot to the visioned west, will be completed, as the stream of motor cars will flow down the uncompleted motor highway. What will it mean? Well, it will mean that the motorist may start at Cal gary, Alberta—as this is a busy highway, of course, start at any other point on it he desires—travel west through the Rocky foothills to the great front door of the Rockies which, incidentally, the gateway to the Banff National Park is Banff, where there is already a motor campsite, as well as a new motor campsite may linger to bask in the radiant sun, spring, and the warm air, the clouds or fish in some of the numerous well stocked lakes or streams of the locality. From Banff the road proceeds westward to Castle town, a short detour to the wonderful Lake Louise and on to the Marjorie Lake and the rugged sublimity of the Valley of the Two Peaks. Then, it may make a short detour to the Vermilion Cliffs, where it then drops down to the Columbia Valley through the Kootenay National Park to Lake Windermere, and the village of Invermere on its shore.

Every mile of the way through the Canadian Parks has been built with an eye to easy travelling and to guard the tourist. Giant peaks, often linked with a snow-capped mountain, guard the way. Deer, wild sheep, elk and goat may be seen feeding fearlessly on the slopes and practically every valley holds a fine lake stocked with trout. From the Divide the road runs through hilly and open country, which is one of the richest both in scenery and the game in the Rockies. From Invermere it goes south to the Columbia River, Windermere and Columbia Lake, the latter of which is a beautiful lake, through deep forests, which it cuts into north of Meagher. From there, the road goes west to the coast, where it will either be among or strengthened roads through Spokane, Walla Walla, and Pocatello, where it links up with the Columbia highway from Portland. Then it drops down past the mountains to the Crater Lake National Park, to San Francisco and on to Los Angeles. From this point a short detour may be made to see the famous Yosemite as well as Grand Park and the Redwoods. Then, travelling east, the road reaches the home of the giant sequoia, the Giant Sequoia, and proceeds north via Salt Lake City, then north to the United States Glacier National Park and less than two days following the trail to Canada. If You Trade Out of Town and I Trade Out of Town What Will Become of Our Town?

THE GLEICHEN CALL

"Trade at Home" Campaign

POWER OF DOLLAR IS EASILY SHOWN—KEEP ONE MOVING AND SEE

"COPYRIGHT"

It is rather a wonderful thing, when you stop to think about it what one dollar will do, if it is kept at work. This has been illustrated in a striking manner on several occasions by a very simple experiment. If you want to see just how important a role a dollar bill plays in the life of a community here is a way to do it. Just attach a tag to the dollar and then lose it, with the request that every person who receives the dollar make a note on the tag as to how he received it. The result will be an eye-opener.

Here is the way it works: Smith the lumber dealer, who first possesses the dollar, buys some groceries from Brown and pays for them with the dollar. About that time Jones, the plumber, who had done some work for Brown, sends his collector around and Brown pays the bill with this dollar. Jones owes Green, the printer, a small advertising bill, so he sends the dollar with possibly some others, to Green to pay his account. Green has nearly got the dollar in his pocket when he comes Black, the milkman, when Green pays with the dollar. For some time Black has owed White, the carpenter, for some work on his dairy house, so now he takes the dollar that Green has paid him and pays up what he owes White. White still owes for some lumber that he bought from Smith, the lumber dealer, so he takes the dollar back and he squares up his bill with Smith. Smith now has his dollar back. Brown has been able to pay his plumber, Jones has squared up with the printer, and so on, all around the circle.

Now suppose that Smith, instead of buying his groceries from Brown, had purchased them from the mail order house in a far distant city and sent his dollar to pay for them. Brown would not have had that dollar to pay Jones; Jones could not have paid the printer; the printer would have had to stand off the milkman; White the carpenter, would not have got the money for his work, and Smith would not have got the money which White owed him for lumber.

This is so simple that it requires no student of economics or professor of mathematics to figure it out. Anyone can see that when Smith sends that dollar to anyone other than the mail order house flourish, that dollar is gone so far as Smith and Jones and Green and the rest of the people in Smith's town are concerned. That dollar will never come back to pay any bill in Smith's town. And the thing that stands out as startling, but is most often overlooked, is that Smith, the man who first sends the dollar, is hurt just as much when he sends that dollar out of town as is the home grocer from whom he might have bought his groceries.

Now just multiply this one dollar by a hundred or a thousand or one thousand. One dollar may not seem to make much difference in the average town, but a thousand dollars or even a hundred dollars does make a difference—just as one dollar will pay a dozen bills, a hundred or a thousand will pay a dozen or a hundred big bills.

Thus, it will be seen that this buy-at-home proposition is really a selfish one with the man who buys the goods. He is not hurting the home merchant when he sends his money out of town any more than he is hurting himself. If he is hurting himself, his livelihood depends upon where business in his town is good or not. If business is not good he cannot make a good living for himself and his family, no matter how hard he may work, and business cannot be good if the business men are not making money. This is a plain business proposition for every man and woman in the community. By spending their money at home they are helping their own town. When they send their money away to the mail order house, they are not only hurting the home merchant incidentally, but—a thing more important to them—they are likely to be taking the bread out of the mouths of their own children.

"A certain writer has said no newspaper which took credit for its policy would make a pecuniary success. The press might return the compliment by remarking that no minister who told his constituents about his own grangulation, alive or dead, would occupy the pulpit much longer than one sundry afterward. The press and clergy go hand in hand with the white-haired brush, rock, apostasy and magnifying little virtues and kindly ignoring the great faults of their obnoxious. The pulpit, the pen and the grave-stone are partners in making."
